As a 2nd year IT college student in T.I.P (Technological Institute of the Philippines), I have been studying frontend and backend development in order to deepen my knowledge and skill in the program that I'm in. During my time as a student intern in CHMI, I've been tasked to update and sort out a client's digital and hard copied files and information. Not only that but it also helped me develop the skills to be able to cooperate with others in a team-oriented environment.
